D.C. Garbage Strike Ends

An estimated 2,000 residents of Daly City carted everything from broken toys to discarded clothing to the city's Mussel Rock dump over the weekend.

It was their last chance to take advantage of the free dumping service offered by the city which took over operation of the dump when scavenger company employes walked off the job three weeks ago and garbage began piling up in the streets.

Although the company's 28 employes voted last Thursday night to end the strike and accept a 47 per cent total pay increase package, the city decided to allow homeowners to continue dumping until last night.

On Sunday more than 1,500 persons took advantage of the open house, Scavenger President Al Sereni said.

Meanwhile, Coastside Scavenger Company employes remained on strike with company officials collecting garbage at vital spots around the city.

Both Pacifica andDaly City use the Mussel Rock site, with the Coastside Scavengers paying Sereni for refuse dumped on a per-ton basis. Coastside disposes of some 165 tons of garbage daily, Sereni said.

Talks between the Pacifica scavengers and Teamsters Union Local 350, the same union that struck Sereni's company, are at a standstill, a spokesman said.

There was no indication when a break-through in negotiations would come.

City officials have not thus far declared any health hazards in that city although garbage is starting to pile up on some streets as cans overflow.

Scavenger President Mario Torrigini said he is collecting refuse at hospitals, apartments and some commercial facilities.

The Daly City City Council met in special session last night to discuss turning control of the dump site — owned by the city but used exclusively by Sereni — back to the scavenger company.

During the strike, Sereni and his five partners had continued to collect garbage in some parts of the city.

When the city took control of the dump it leased Sereni's equipment for an undisclosed sum and hired Sereni for $5 per hour to operate the quipment.

Also on last night's agenda is a public hering on federal revenue sharing trust fund requests and a letter frn the Planning Commission concerning amendment to the city's geneal plan which sets in motion a redevelopment program.

RESIDENTS of Daly City dumped their garbage free for the last time Sunday at the Mussel Rock dump. The strike now is over in Daly City. (Post Photo)

D.C. Council Tends to the Legal End

The Daly City City Council meeting in special session Monday rescinded an urgency ordinance which had put the operation of the Mussel Rock garbage dump under the city's Recreation and Parks Department.

This action gives back to the Daly City Scavenger Company control of the dump and reinstates its exclusive franchise to collect and dispose of garbage in Daly City.

It was necessary to enact the ordinance when the company's 28 employes walked out Aug. 1 demanding higher wages and garbage began piling up on city streets, City Atty. Albert Polonsky said.

"Now that the strike is over and workers are back on the job there is no longer a threat to health," Polonsky said, in reading the ordinance.

Westmoor Pool Bidder Too Low

Another snag has developed in construction of that swimming pool at Westmoor High School in Daly City.

It was to be a joint venture project between the city and Jefferson Union High School District.

MONDAY NIGHT the city council heard that the contractor had underestimated the cost of the project by some $47,000.

The prime contract bidder on the pool is Gil-Winn of Pacheco, who bid $529,504 base, considerably under the engineer estimate of $760,000.

But a spokesman for the company said sub-contractors had underestimated the bid, especially for steel, and the company could not meet its low bid price.

ATTORNEY FRED FLOWERS, of Bonnert, Flowers and McCarthy of San Francisco, acknowledged that the prime bidder, Gil-Winn, had based his bid on knowledge gleaned from subcontractors.

He asked that Gil-Winn be let out of their contract.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky said he had not had time to completely research the matter but would report back to the council at a later date.

THE WESTMOOR POOL has been plagued with bad luck since its inception some eight years ago.

First, an architectural estimate of some $700,000 came in from bidders at almost double — $1.3 million.

The project then was turned over to Kirker-Chapman Associates and was redesigned and resubmitted for bid.

On that occasion it came in some $300,000 over estimate.

FINALLY THE POOL received the bid from Gil-Winn and Monday learned a mistake in quotations had been made.

The JUHSD was expected to discuss the matter during its regular meeting last night.

It was anticipated Deputy Dist. Atty. Tom Casey, expected to attend the meeting, would ask the matter go to bid again.

S.S.F. Also Waits on Strike Talks

The threat of a city employes' strike in South San Francisco seems to have become a waiting game.

The Central Labor Council gave tentative strike sanction last Friday night to the South San Francisco local of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes after a conference with Acting City Mgr. Ed Alario failed to failed to bring the two sides any closer.

Only a final invitation to one more negotiation session this week apparently stood in the way of city employes setting up a picket line, according to local President Boo Peterson. No such invitation was received Monday by Alario.

Monday night the council closed session on labor negotiations, in which the council could have given fresh instructions to Alario and City Atty. John Noonan — but no one said for sure.

Virtually all non-executive city employes are represented by a joint council of AFSCME and the Marine Employes Beneficial Assn., in the negotiation, except the firemen and policemen, whose separate groups are continuing their parallel negotiation with Alario.

Coffee Break

They were called to fight a hopper fire at the Folger Coffee plant, 329 Littlefield Road, by the Bay and — firemen report — inhaled enough from fumes from smoldering coffee to last them for a week of coffee breaks.

Water Board OK's $5 Million Grant

The State Water Resources Control Board last week approved a $5 million expansion project at the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Plant in Daly City for the reclamation of waste-water.

The project had been given a priority rating earlier and will be funded by the Clean Water Grant Program. Board chairman Win Adams said on announcing the approval Thursday.

One of the stipulations necessary for approval of the grant was that the district had to guarantee a place of use for the water to be reclaimed.

Each project still must receive concept and plan approval before actual construction starts, David Gehre, Administrative head of the NSMCSD, said.

Some months ago Gehre and engineering consultant Robert Bernicchi, of Resources Management and Engineering, met with representative of North County cemeteries, golf courses and parks to explain how reclaimed wastewater can be provided at reasonable cost for irrigation purposes.

This use of reclaimed water, which San Francisco has been doing for years at Golden Gate Park will also have a measurable effect on saving the area's diminishing underground water table, experts said.

Envisioned initially is treatment of some 2,000 plus acres of reclaimed wastewater to be sold to local users for irrigation.

Daly City now uses about seven million gallons of pure water a day — four from local wells and the rest from the Hetch Hetchy system owned by San Francisco.

If San Francisco some day decides it must serve its own water interests first, officials fear San Mateo County will be the first to feel the effects of the cutback in supply.

With the threat of higher water costs, and possibly rationing, Bernicchi and Gehre said the answer to demand and supply is reclaimed wastewater.

Bernicchi is now drafting a project report for expansion of the plant located at Lake

Dancing on the (Tax) Ceiling in D.C.

The confusing game of how to meet a higher city budget without increasing property taxes was played by the Daly City City Council Monday night.

THIS IN THE face of new state legislation which imposes ceilings on tax rates, coupled with larger exemptions for homeowners.

But the council held the line, even though the overall city budget jumped some three quarters of a million dollars to $9,886,050.

Senate Bill 90, primarily a school-aid tax reform measure to ease the burden paid by homeowners in "poor" districts for school support, also has placed a limit on how much a city council can raise the tax rate.

DALY CITY'S tax rate per $100 of assessed valuation is $1.91 — the maximum under SB90.

The secret on how the administration of the city was able to find money to pay the higher budget is in an 8.17 per cent increase in assessed valuations in Daly City reported by the county's office of the controller.

Daly City, with a population now topping 71,000, has a net assessed valuation of $147 million plus, according to records.

IN RECENT WEEKS some school districts have lowered their tax rates because of more state aid. In the Jefferson Elementary School District of Daly City this rate was lowered some 36 cents from last year, although the district's certificated personnel were given 7.3 per cent pay hikes.

Councilman Bernard J. Lycett said citizens should understand that while SB 90 may provide aid for school districts, no such relief for city projects has resulted from the new legislation.

In other adction the council, during its public study session discussed construction of the Serramonte Library and considered awarding the bid for building the facility to the Wesco Company, one of two firms submitting bids.

WESCO'S BID was $434,000. The other bid was over $200,000 higher.

The council heard representatives from several city and civic agencies appealing for part of the $414,499 in federal revenue sharing funds to be made available in the city.

The city has received requests for funding amounting to $958,756.

City Manager David Rowe said he will recommend to the council during its regular meeting next week who should get the monies.

OUR LADY OF GUADALU Health Clinic again has asked for funding in the amount of $37,828 for general budgetary purposes, including building improvements at its 75 Wellington Avenue address, site of the former city hall.

The remaining requests were from city agencies.

Identical Drug Charge

South San Francisco's City Council on Monday approved a $9.2 million budget, with an unusual provision.

As the city manager begins to hire employes for the 31 new positions authorized in the budget, the council must scrutinize and give fresh approval to these positions.

The bulk of these positions are already being filled by employes being paid by federal and state grants, most of which are scheduled to end by February. This fact, Ed Alario, the acting city manager, stressed, will give planty of time to examine these posts.

Alario, who is regularly the employes working under Emergency Employment Administration grants would be given no special advantage when it comes to filling those same positions under civil service, but must pass the regular civil service tests.

Councilmen asked Alario to check the possibility of using "oral exams" only on some of those posts, but Alario pointed out some practical difficulties with this approach.

Since the 1973-74 budget was put together under a new method — program budgeting — it was not readily comparable with last year's, although Alario in planning to work out some comparison figures.

The number of city employes, however, is comparable. The number of positions authorized is being increased from 317 to 348. A 10-person communication division is being created, using Brisbane police have arrested a second man in connection with alleged cultivation of marijuana and posession of dangerous drugs at a private home in that Bayside city Monday.

John E. Barsotti of Kings Road was arrested in San Francisco about 8 p.m. Monday and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana for sale, possession of peyote, possession of dangerous drugs, and possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

Barsotti's arrest came after Sgt. John Najka announced the arrest of John Allan, 23, also of 121 Kings Road.

Allan was booked on identical charges, police said.

Majka and a posse of five Brisbane police allegedly found 34 marijuana plants growing inside the house when they raided it Friday night.

New Plans for Bayhill Project in San Bruno

Bayhill developer Lewis Douglas Monday said he will speak on behalf of the A. Epstein Co. at the Monday night San Bruno City Council meeting to formally withdraw the permit application for the two proposed 13-story office buildings that have caused much controversy and resulted in a successful referendum petition in that North County city.

The meeting Monday night had been set as the final deadline for the council to call a special election, in conjunction with the statewide Nov. 6 balloting, to determine whether the 3-2 council approval of the two high-rises would stand.

A referendum petition drive seeking to rescind that approval ended with "at least 2,631 valid signatures," according to a report by City Clerk Carl Hultberg. Only 1,535 were required under the state Election Code.

The unexpected move, announced by Douglas, left the Bayhill Referendum Committee "surprised," according to spokesman Mrs. Teri Rassmussen.

She said that she had met with Douglas and Bayhill representative Tom Grant twice last month, "at the invitation of the developer."

At their last meeting, according to Mrs. Rasmussen, she submitted a request for "basic supportive data" which would enable her "volunteer experts" to "independently evaluate any Bayhill projects." She said she had not been notified of this "new proposal."

What Mrs. Rasmussen calls a "new proposal" is, according to a Douglas press release, Bayhill's three-fold answer to a May 14 challenge by the San Bruno City Council.

According to Douglas, on that date the council wrote a letter challenging the developer to a "stop-and-go" density based on present and future analysis.

Douglas said that in the challenge the maximum allowable building limit was 2.8 million square feet with the lower allowable limit put at 2.25 million square feet.

To meet this challenge Douglas said his plan is to withdraw on the two 13-story buildings as a "positive, symbolic action representing Bayhill's effort to unify the city."

Secondly, according to Douglas, Bayhill would agree to place a nine-story office space height limitation on its tallest building. Already on the Bayhill site is a nine-story building that houses the Western Regional offices of the U.S. Postal Service.

Third, and most important as far as Douglas is concerned, he said he would reduce the allowable building density by more than half a million square feet and build not more than 2.25 million square feet.

Mrs. Rassmussen challenged Douglas on this item. She said the original development plan does not specify any overall density.

"The only reference is in the Planning Commission minutes in which the figure stated is 2 million square feet," said Mrs. Rasmussen.

She called the reference to the nine-story limit a "numbers game" in that it was "not substantially different from the 13-story buildings."

Mrs. Rasmussen referred to the names on the referendum petitions as a "clearly expressed mandate of the people. They oppose high-rise, high-density buildings, whether nine-story or 13-story, which will significantly change the character of San Bruno as a suburban residential community."

Douglas' press release said that "presently preliminary thoughts are underway for a low-profile office complex on the Bayhill land next to San Bruno Avenue." This is near where the two 13-story office buildings were to be built.

Bayhill is scheduled to house professional offices. A shopping center is now under construction, and a hotel is planned.

Merced Avenue and Alemany Boulevard.

The report will be submitted to the State by October 1, 1973, Gehre said.

Next the district will draw up plans and specifications for the reclamation phase of the plant and submit them to the State by March, 1974.

"When this is approved, we hopefully will be able to go to bid and began construction almost immediately," Gehre said.

The State Board approved a total of $36 million in wastewater reclamation projects for the state. Only two were in the Bay Area — Santa Clara and San Mateo counties.

six current police dispatchers. Major increases in personnel are authorized in the fire and police departments, with other major increases in purchasing, city garage, sanitation and park.

The tax rate will remain identical — 91 cents per $100 valuation.

Alario, who is regularly the finance director, appeared pessimistic about the city's financial future. With $20 to $22 million in needed capital improvements coming up, he foresaw financial difficulties ahead for South San Francisco, in spite of the fact that it now has virtually the lowest tax rate in San Mateo County for any full-service city.

Alario estimates revenue of $9,477,574 for the 1973-74 fiscal year. Received by the city this past year was $7,653,002.

Slightly more than a million dollars was slabbed by Alario from department requests.

Togetherness at Sea

When she gets back to Pacifica, Evangelina Seymour will have lots of exciting stories to tell the folks back home. She has been identified as one of the group of six women and five men who made a trip across the Atlantic on a raft, experimenting for 100 days with "group and sexual behavior."

The raft, skippered by a woman described as "buxom, blonde and Swedish," landed Monday at Cozumel, Mexico.

No one from the news media has been allowed to talk to the group, which is sequestered in a hotel on the Yucatan Peninsula tourist island for "debriefing" on their physical and mental reactions at crossing the Atlantic on the 39-by-22-foot raft Acali, captained by Maria Bjornstam.

The expedition was sponsored by television Channel 13 in Mexico.

Three psychiatrists, two psychologists and two other doctors ordered the group not to make public statements, because, they said, "The public would contaminate their reactions to their experiences in the raft," one of the debriefing doctors said.

On arrival newsmen who were allowed to look at and photograph the group described the men as bare-chested and bearded and the women bikini-clad and suntanned. And everyone looked happy.

The Atlantic odyssey covered 5,000 watery miles.

Looking healthy and happy after their 3½-month voyage from the Canary Islands, the 11 mariners were protected from the outside world by armed guards placed outside the hotel.

The Acali on the final leg of its trip was towed to Cozumel, situated on the eastern tip of Mexico in the Caribbean Sea, by a Mexican mine sweeper. The raft encountered high winds and rough waters churned up by Hurricane Brenda.

The Daly City area chapter of American Association of Retired Persons will have a speaker from Pets Unlimited as speaker at its monthly meeting Aug. 25 at 2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

The speaker will discuss diets, shots and general care of pets. A movie also will be shown on the subject.

MRS. MARIE YOUNG is the "Infection control nurse" at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, the first of that specialty in San Mateo County. Her job includes surveillance of infectious patients, enforcement of strict islation techniques and a personal health program for hospital employes. She formerly was patient care coordinator on the fifth floor. She's shown here inspecting cultures under a microscope in her own fully-equipped laboratory.

Skyline Has Placement Test Soon

Skyline College will have its final placement test before opening of classes Aug. 28 at 6:30 p.m. in the administration building room 131.

All persons who plan to enroll in the day classes must take the test unless they have completed a college level English course.

Anyone planning to enroll in night college level English classes for the first time also must take a placement test.

Further information about the test may be obtained by calling Dean of Students James C. Wyatt at 355-7000, ext. 314.

Skyline's administration is interested in finding housing for as many students as possible. Those interested may contact the college.

Classes will open Sept. 11 All those interested in attending should contact the college immediately.

PROMOTED

Marine Cpl. Gustavo R. Chavez, husband of Mrs. Lorena Chavez, 221 Price St., Daly City, was promoted to his present rank while at a U.S. Marine Corps base in Okinawa.

H.M.B. Wins Annex Approval

Annexation of 115 acres to the City of Half Moon Bay, planned for a 51-unit housing development, was approved by a split vote of Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) last week.

The 3-1 approval for annexation overturned the recommendations for disapproval by LAFCO Director B. Sherman Coffman and County Planning Director Donald Wolfe.

Half Moon Bay City Mgr. W. Fred Mortensen urged approval of the annexation, citing that the property, adjacent to Half Moon Bay High School, provides a link for planned improved traffic circulation in the community.

During several points, Mortensen and Coffman took turns chiding one another, and each man, on at least one occasion, declared, "I take exception" with comments made by the other.

Commissioners McRobert Stewart, Emory Morris and William Royer approved the annexation. Commission chairwoman Mary W. Henderson opposed it.

Several points were at issue, including conflicting proposed uses for the land by the county and the city. But only that's an interpretation, for Mortensen pointed out the present county master plan coincides with Half Moon Bay's general plan.

But it conflicts with tentative amendments to the county plan, which would drastically reduce the density, Wolfe reported.

The land presently is zoned for agricultural. Half Moon Bay soon will zone it to planned unit development. The property is outside the Coastal Zone.

Coffman and Mortensen disagreed as to even whether LAFCO could approve the annexaion because Half Moon Bay is under a cease and desist order, restricting them from granting sewage connection permits pending completion of a new sewage treatment plant.

Mortensen said he was given permission to quote a "high official" of the State Water Quality Control Board that it was proper for LAFCO to decide annexation.

But Coffman reputted that he personally attended a meeting in which it was said the commission couldn't.

Disputes also arose as to whether the annexation would contribute to "urban sprawl," as claimed by Coffman and Wolfe, and "resented" by Mortensen.

Wolfe noted that the county presently is re-examining land uses on the Coastside and Coffman said that LAFCO this fall will launch a study reconsidering spheres of influences on the Coast.

Wolfe claimed that the proposed development "sets precedent for housing uses of undeveloped lands" on the Coast.

Mortensen scored both Coffman and Wolfe, and received support from Morris.

"This is not urban sprawl," Mortensen declared. "The property is in the core area of the city, 2500-feet from a shopping center."

Concern also was voiced as to whether or not sufficient water was available.

Coffman reported that there are only some 500 connections remaining within the Coastside Water District, and that some 7,000 lots are subdivided.

He noted that the County of San Francisco has indicated it would supply water, 'but he cost of bringing it here (through pipes) is at least $5 million."

Chairwoman Henderson supported Coffman and Wolfe and said the question should wait for completion of upcoming studies.

Co-owner of the property is Lee Lewellen of El Granada. He concurred with the conditions that the annexation be contingent upon receipt of water connection and sewage connection permits. Sewage connections will be available starting in November.

Serramonte 'Orientation'

Orientation for all new students at Serramonte High School in Daly City will be at 9 a.m. August 30 in the school gym.

All incoming freshmen and older students enrolling for the first time should plan to attend. There will be a really and student-guided tour of the school.

Serramonte will open for the school year September 11.

Students planning to enroll may do so at any time, but a spokesman warned that late registration may mean some classes are already full. The earlier the enrollment the better, he said.

'Young Sounds' at Serramonte

The "Young Sounds," a contemporary group of 45 high school and college-age youngsters, will be the featured attraction at a Serramonte Shopping Center back-to-school fashion show at 11:30 a.m. August 25.

The group has toured Southern California for three years but will make its first Bay Area appearance. Serramonte will be one of several stops, including Ghiradelli Square, Union Square and Embarcadero Square in San Francisco and the Sausalito Art Festival.

CARL D. ARNOLD has been named assistant manager of the Serramonte district of the California State Automobile Association. Arnold began his career with CSAA in 1961 as an examiner in the San Francisco main office claims department. In 1962 he transferred to the controller's department as senior supervisor and in 1969 advanced to the assistant manager of the records department. He and wife Helen and their three children reside in Novato.

Rustling on Increase in S.M. County

A big increase in cattle and sheep rustling on the Peninsula may take helicopter surveillance to curb it, it was reported today.

"It is to be noted we are apparently suffering a vast increase in thefts of cattle and sheep, especially around the Alpine Road and Skyline Blvd. area," said Deputy Sheriff Harvey Rutenberg as he reported on the latest rustling incident.

Rutenberg suggested that the sheriff's helicopter crews be on special lookouts for any rustling activities.

The deputy's recommendation followed a report yesterday by Jack A. McLaughlin, 53, operator of a Halfway House for Alcoholics at 840 Sweeney Ave., in Redwood City.

Although the incident occurred on July 26 when a resident of the area noticed two men trying to load some slaughtered sheep into a station wagon at Alpine and Page Mill Roads, it was not reported until yesterday morning.

According to Rutenberg, seven sheep, each valued at $75, had been slaughtered on grazing land, and four were loaded into the station wagon before the rustlers were frightened away.

Three carcasses left on Skyline Blvd., had to be buried, Rutenberg reported. Three months ago, McLaughlin reported, he had a herd of 60 sheep. Now he has 42.

MONKEY BUSINESS AT TANFORAN—Chimps, aardvarks, anteaters and many other baby animals will be at Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno, August 25. The famous Jetts Petting Zoo will return to the mall and all children have been invited to pet the animals. Many new animals have been added to this traveling menagerie, including a baby elephant, tapirs and kangaroos. The zoo will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturdays. The animals are located inside the center's main mall.

Cyclist Injured

A 28-year-old Pacifica motorcyclist was slightly injured when he hit the rear of a tow truck picking up a piece of road grading equipment near the Rockaway Cut on Highway One shortly after 8 p.m. last night.

Raymond Hofferber, of 1336 Avila Court, Pacifica, received injuries to his hands and was treated at Mary's Help Hospital and released.

Millbrae Center Closes

The Millbrae Community Center will be closed for cleaning and maintenance as well as allowing for staff vacations beginning Aug. 25 and ending Sept. 11. The doors will be locked during this time.

Registration for Fall programs will begin Sept. 17 for Millbrae residents and Sept. 19 for non-residents. Tiny Tots Registration is set for Sept. 19 at 1 p.m. Persons interested in reserving rooms for youth groups can do so starting September 11 on a first come first serve basis.

S.S.F. Girl Becomes City's First Mechanic

By JACK BIK

When Viki Fagundes went to work for South San Francisco summer youth employment program, she had no intention of striking a blow for women's lib.

She finds, however, that she is now the city garage's first woman garage mechanic.

Technically, she is working as secretary to Andy Rodondi, superintendent of the garage. Shortly after she came on the job, she begged Rodondi to let her try her hand at a few minor garage tasks.

First, Rodondi gingerly let her run the gas pump a few times, under direction of one of the regular mechanics. Then, he let her try her hand at a few other tasks, such as lubing a car, and she performed beautifully. Since then, she has performed a variety of tasks around the city's garage, which has the task of maintaining police cars, fire engines, street and park department vehicles and other rolling stock owned by the city.

RODONDI SAYS that not only is Viki a great deal of help in the garage, she also makes a more efficient secretary because of her background knowledge of cars and their parts.

Acting City Mgr. Ed Alario recently praised her work highly when the city council was discussing the needs of the city garage for the coming year.

Viki, who is 17, had tried to take auto mechanics at El Camino High, but she was told that there was little enough room for boys. She took an after-school course in consumer auto mechanics, where girls were permitted, and pulled down an "A." A third of those who enrolled in the class dropped out, she adds.

She hasn't yet decided what career she wants to enter. She is graduating from high school in January, and entering junior college where she plans to take a regular auto mechanics course. She also plans to apply to Standard Oil Co. for a job.

"THEY ARE hiring women now," she said, "and paying three-something an hour."

She doesn't plan, at this time, to go to work in a garage.

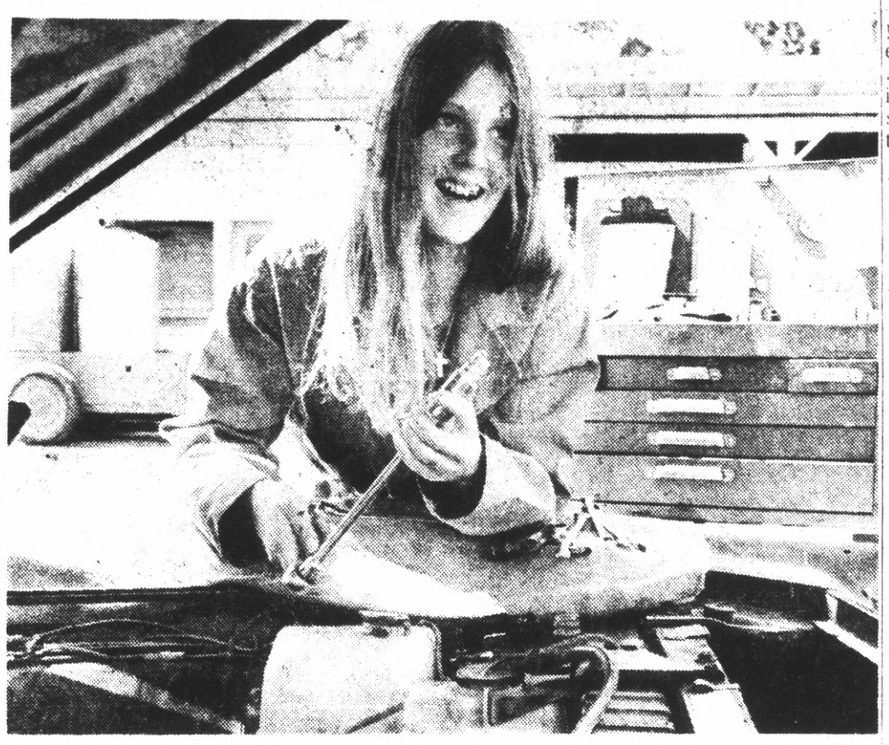
"My boyfriend is very proud of the way I can get in and work on a car — and I'm not afraid to get dirty," she remarked.

She is far from dirty, as a rule, at the city garage office, which she runs normally attired in a cute miniskirt and black-boot outfit — but the men at the city garage appear to be too busy to be distracted by her.

She and her boyfriend, she says, have done quite a bit of work together on his car.

She is currently looking for her own car, these days — something she can buy for about $200 and fix up herself.

"Can't afford any more," she explains.



VIKI FAGUNDES tries her hand in changing a sparkplug in one of South San Francisco's police cars. Secretary of the city garage for the summer, she has broken the sex barrier in becoming the city garage's first auto mechanic. She works on a part-time basis and is returning to school this fall. (Times Photo)

Ryan Seeks Ideas From Sr. Citizens

U.S. Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-South San Francisco), called for suggestions from senior citizens on how better to use the elderly as a national resource, at a meeting of the San Mateo County Office Building in Redwood City last week.

"American senior citizens come out second best," said Ryan, "in comparison with those in other Western countries. I believe we can do better than that for our own people — our parents."

Asked about increased federal funding for the aged, Ryan said, "Of course it is not just a matter of providing funds, but of giving them the opportunity to do something in a dignified way that adds to our economic benefit as a nation. What we need are ideas and new, more enlightened attitudes. Nowhere else is the senior citizen so wasted as in this country."

Slow-Pitch Loop Starts

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will sponsor a fall slow-pitch softball league, starting Aug. 25.

Games will be at Fairmont West Park. Teams in the league will include Anderson Liquor, El Granada Market, Joker's Wild, Vallemar Station and Winter's Tavern. Game time will be 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

ORT Installs

They are: Mrs. Edward Soss, president; Mrs. Stephen Jacobs, education vice president; Mrs. Al Hupe, membership vice president; Mrs. Edward Schutzman, secretary; Mrs. Sheldon Post, treasurer; and Mrs. Phil Kone, recording secretary.

GIRL SCOUTING

GOURMET COOKING in the out-of-doors is a strong feature of this year's Daly City Girl Scout Day Camp, directed by Mrs. Carol Klatt. With Mrs. Elaine McDowell and Mrs. Virginia Rusting in charge of program girls are studying the "Peoples of the Pacific."

The multi-unit camp at Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno, provides girls with opportunities to sample the arts and crafts and foods of the Pacific which were influenced by both Asia and Europe.

BANANA FRITTERS, varied tropical fruit salads, Tahitian tarts, Lumpia (an egg roll-like mixture), and the papusas, pastilitos and plainos of El Salvadore were on the girls' menus.

ADOBO-A-LA-MONJA, Teryiaki burgers and Hacienda beef soup all contribute to this epicurean's delight which also includes the general camp food fare of "some-mores," Brownie stew, chili dogs, brown bottom pies and chicken gumbo.

Recipes prepared by Mrs. Rusting and added to by the Scout leaders, are available to all adult volunteers at camp, according to Business Manager Mrs. Shirley Figone. Camp equipment manager is Assistant Camp Director Mrs. Carole Ann Scott.

DC Soccer Club Going

A boys soccer program, a non-fee activity jointly sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and the Westlake International Soccer Club, is now in session.

Participants of ages six through 13 meet Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. at Ben Franklin School backfield adjoining the tennis courts.

Training consists of basic soccer drills followed by practice games. Interested youngsters still may join.

There will be an opportunity for those who attend to play for the Westlake International Soccer Club, which has been organized since 1968.

Cat Saved; High Drama in Millbrae

While a hushed crowd of more than 100 neighbors held its breath, a young tree surgeon from the Davey Tree Surgery Co. inched his way up an 80-foot-tall pine tree in Millbrae — and rescued "Puss" at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

"Puss" is the four-month-old part-Persian kitten who climbed up the tree last Thursday night and had clung mewing and starving in the topmost branches for the past six nights and days. Other efforts to rescue failed.

The rescuer was identified today as Sam Noonan of Mountain View by Peninsula Humane Society. The SPCA called the tree surgeon to the scene, where he was assisted by two Humane Society officers, Robert Smith and Mike Mason. But, said Supt. Jeff Bell, "All the credit should go to Mr. Noonan, and we are deeply appreciative of his efforts and hard work."

Bell, operations superintendent of the Humane Society, said by telephone calls night and day — and even at 2 a.m. by people who wanted to know what they could do to help save "Puss."

"Puss is eating very well, is in excellent health, has adapted well to her environment — and is available for adoption. She will be looking for a home as soon as we get a release from the original owner."

It was largely die to the determination of Mrs. Edwin Gray of 43 Palm Ave., Millbrae, and the indignation she aroused that led to the ultimate saving of the kitten.

Mrs. Gray has been besieged

Said Mrs. Gray, "It's ttruly fabulous the way things finally worked out. You know, when that young man finally climbed up the tree, that kitten walked right over to him, as if it sensed that here was a frieind who had come to his rescue, as indeed he had."

Mrs. Gray said the 100-year-old pine tree is one of the magnificent old specimens of the former Mills Estate.

"The neighbors and I agree that the young man of the Davey Company deserves an honest-to-goodness medal."

The initial effort to rescue the kitten resulted in a series of calls to the Millbrae Fire Department. The department faces a difficult policy decision, because if equipment is out on a pet rescue and a fire occurs, it is difficult to explain the reason why the engine didn't get to the fire as fast as it tshould have. This is generally understood. However, importuning calls by neighbors finally prevailed and the fire department arrived yesterday.

Firemen, however, found they couldn't reach the kitten and even tried holding nets and hosing it down. All that happened was "Puss" climbed to the top of the tree. By then the kitten had been treed about five days.

The Humane Society arrived with equipment which has a long pole with a loop on it. Neighbors said the society equipment bumped into the tree, frigthening the kitten even more. The Humane Society left and called the Davey company with its tree climber and equipment.

Mrs. Gray tells the story: "It really was just like a miracle. Here was this nice young man climbing higher and higher, limbs breaking. The kitty was at the topmost branch. For two hours, he cut slowly and carefully. Some branches broke.

"Really, the crowd stood around, and you could have heard a pineneedle drop, no one dared make a sound. Just to watch that man was something.

"And do you know, when he got up to the top limb, that kitten walked right over to him. People were actually crying. When he got down with the kitten you should have heard the cheers. He was a real herb — we had him blusning, but what a relief."

Mrs. Gray said, "We have been assured that after all this "puss" is going to have a home. People have called and called. I certainly hope someone is going to adopt it. I have been assured by the people at the SPCA that they will keep us informed about the situation.

"My husband and I have a Siamese cat ourselves, otherwise we would be glad to take the kitten."

Sheriff's Aide Eugene Stewart Gored in Spain

Eugene E. Stewart, assistant San Mateo County Sheriff, was badly gored and sustained other severe injuries in Spain this week when he gallantly sprinted into a bull ring to rescue a schoolteacher in danger of being gored.

Stewart, 53, arrived home early Friday. He was to enter Sequoia Hospital that day for a possible operation.

Authorities said he suffered a broken ankle and two broken ribs. He was gored badly in the left arm and face. He required suturing, including some of his mouth area.

The personable Stewart, vacationing with friends on the Costa del Sol near Marbella, Spain, was said to be in pain, but in good spirits.

Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr. told of the incident:

Stewart, along with Deputy Robert Planting, a sheriff's office records supervisor, Joe Sanchez, and attorney Harold "Bud" Francis, went to the Hacienda del Toros (Ranch of the Bulls), a tourist site where young bulls are raised.

Part of the attraction is for tourists to don capes and be shown the arts of bullfighting.

A schoolteacher fell in the arena and Stewart promptly ran into area to throw his cape at the bull to distract it from the teacher.

Both the teacher and Stewart sprinted back toward the safety area when Stewart's ankle became lodged in a hole. It immediately snapped, and he collapsed to the ground, unable to rise and escape the charging bull.

The beast trampled Stewart and gored him before others could reach him and distract the bull.

The schoolteacher was not urt.

McDonald said Stewart told him how Spanish authorities noted the assistant sheriff was a "rich American," and wanted to immediately operate on his ankle.

But Sanchez, who speaks fluent Spanish, and Francis, Stewart's attorney, would not allow it.

A man who placed a cast on Stewart's ankle and applied sitches was found to be a medical technician, not a doctor, Stewart told the sheriff.

Furthermore, Spanish authorities wanted to stick pins into Stewart's legs.

The assistant sheriff, a resident of Foster City, was scheduled to return to work next Monday.

It was the second consecutive year he made the trip to Spain, where he and his friends play golf and tour the area.

Sanction Given for S.S.F. Strike

Following an unsuccessful attempt Friday night to settle the issues, the San Mateo County Central Labor Council gave a tentative strike sanction to the South San Francisco Local of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, according to president Bob Peterson.

The CLC members had invited Acting-city Mgr. Ed Alario and officers of the city union to explain their differences at a special meeting at the Labor Temple in San Mateo Friday night, but failed to achieve a reconciliation.

The CLC then met among themselves on the problem.

Peterson said that either Monday or Tuesday Alario would be contacted by the CLC for further negotiations. If at that time, Peterson said, he did not agree with such negotiations, employes would strike.

Involved are all city employes, except fire and police with whom separate negotiations are also in progress.

Obstacle To Pacifica Strike Pact

An obstacle to settlement of Pacifica's garbage strike, now into its second week, appeared when owners of the Coastside Scavenger Co., reported that they were unable to attend a session called by the Federal mediator for 10 a.m. Monday.

Mario Torrigino, co-owner of the firm, said that he wants to attend, and that he would attend if the meeting were held in the afternoon.

"I can't be there at 10 a.m.," he declared. "I've got garbage to pick up."

Torrigino and his partner have been working every day, 3 a.m. to 3 p.m. picking up garbage from restaurants and apartment complexes — but letting the garbage from thousands of homeowners go uncollected.

"It's especially necessary to pick up the garbage from sea food restaurants and fish markets around Princeton," Torrigino said. "There'd be rats and other infestation pretty soon if I didn't take care of that."

Otherwise, Daly Ciiy's garbage settlement seemed to have no impact upon Pacifica where the strike continued, with no end in sight. Both parties still seemed a long way apart today.

JESD Raises Salaries

"It's the State's way of supporting us in a fashion we've become accustomed to," trustee Beverly Forrester quipped.

In a more serious vein, Superintendent Keith Breon pointed out that this sort of imbalance in annual school district funding "is not a good business practice" and he vowed to maintain a tight grip on the district's finances during his tenure.

Dr. Stratton emphasized that no instructional programs had suffered cutbacks as a result of Lynch's axe used on what were considered to be extravagances in the budget.

"I really didn't think they (Breon and Lynch) could do it (cut the budget) but they did," Dr. Stratton said.

In other action, the Board instructed Breon to contact the State Department of Education for assistance in conducting a demographic survey of the area regarding use of the Savage School site in the St. Francis Heights section of the city.

The 21-acre Savage site, now surrounded by commercial enterprises and closed in by apartments and convalescent homes, was bought for $828,962 in 1964. Cost of grading the property was $49,000, Breon said.

But a declining student population in the district has ruled out ever building on the site, some trustees feel, although voters passed, and the district already sold, some $1.8 million in bonds now in local banks collecting interest.

Harvest Peak for Melons, Peppers, Grapes

Possessed of an almost perfumed fragrance, muskmelons are in their peak harvest this month. Available from June through October most California melons are, however, harvested in the late summer.

Of Persian origin, muskmelons include crenshaws, casabas, honeydews, Santa Claus, Persians and cantaloupes. Now being shipped from Merced and Stanislaus districts, quality of these mixed melons is good to excellent.

The sugar content easily meets the requirement of 8 per cent soluble solids. Cants are particularly high in sugar this year because of favorable growing conditions. California watermelons are producing higher yields because of the weather, with quality demand and price all higher.

In a few weeks crenshaw melons should be reaching peak harvest in Stanislaus and San Joaquin counties. Because of the mild growing season the external appearance of these melons is superior with good color.

Honeydew melons from Yolo County should be in greatest volume this week. By late August about two-thirds of these melons on the market will be from the Sacramento Valley. Because of the cool nights, the yield of this melon was not as good as expected. This created one advantage, however — sweeter melons.

Melons don't gain in sugar or sweetness after they're picked. But they do become riper and mellower, therefore, more flavorful. For maximum flavor, hold melons in a warm area out of direct sunlight for three or four days before chilling and serving.

Melons are low in calories and provide numerous vitamins and minerals. Cants provide vitamins A and C, honeydews, vitamin C. More than half a day's allowance of vitamins A and C can be found in an average serving of cantaloupe. Generally, the darker orange the meat of the melon the better source of vitamin A it is.

Light and refreshing, melons make a cool snack in summer's heat. A little squeeze of lemon or lime brings out their distinct flavors. They also combine well with other fruits, especially berries.

Late this month early season green bell peppers will be in peak production from Santa Clara County. These earlier crops prove superior in size, lustre and sheen. The later crops make up the difference in flavor and nutrition.

Continuing through October, Ventura and Orange counties also will supplement the markets with bell peppers, which can be green or red in color. They aren't different varieties — the red ones have been harvested when fully ripe and sweet.

Genetically controlled, bells are extremely high in vitamins A and C. One-half raw pepper will fill a daily quota of vitamin C. Red peppers are considerably higher in vitamins A and C than green ones.

The yield on green peppers this year should come close to the average production level of previous years, and indication of only normal price increases at retail.

Late in the season look for big, sweet, fully ripe bells. They add color, flavor and nutrition to any salad. Avoid green bells that are starting to turn red or look shriveled.

Thompson Seedless grapes are now being harvested in the Delano area. The next two to three weeks should be the best time to buy them.

From Delano to Fresno harvest of the seedless grape crop should supply markets through September. Storage houses will continue to furnish retailers with Thompson through October.

Quality of Delano grapes is considered average to good, easily meeting the minimum requirement for sugar content. Berry sizes generally are medium to large, and very desirable for consumers.

A little hint on buying Thompson Seedless grapes — those berries with an amber blush indicate maximum flavor and sweetness. However, marketing of such grapes is difficult. Maximum ripeness of Thompsons causes "shattering," or grapes falling off the bunch. The lighter the straw-like color and the closer to amber the color of the berry, the sweeter the treat.

Warm weather several months ago contributed to a heavier harvest of Thompsons this year, as compared to last year. Delano has the largest acreage of all California districts, and should reach peak production by the end of this month. It will be followed by the Fresno-Dinuba-Reedley district about the first of September.

Prices at present are reasonable, and the fruit plentiful. Thompsons are selling from 43 to 69 cents per pound at retail, and this is not expected to increase because of the labor situation unless supplies are drastically curtailed.

A little less than half of the total Thompsons produced in California are sent to the fresh market. The remainder of the berries are processed, either dried as raisins, crushed for wine or brandy or canned in fruit cocktail.

Food for Life

Nutritious Substitutes For Meat

GEORGE M. BRIGGS

Ph.D. Nutritionist

In the past few weeks we have seen a dramatic example of what can happen to the national food picture when the basic law of supply and demand is altered by artificial controls.

I am referring to the current lack of meat at most grocery stores, meat markets and even restaurants. To add to the problem, scores of people are buying more meat than usual and hoarding it in their freezers.

What can the mean consumer do in this situation? Until the price freeze on meat is lifted, alternatives are few except to eat meat substitutes and either accept the situation gracefully or to complain bitterly.

Meat contributes many valuable nutrients to an average diet — including over 40 per cent of the overall protein intake, and about one-third of our iron intake. It also contains numerous other minerals, including the B vitamins. Meat is a favorite food of most persons. However, a wise consumer should not get too upset over a temporary shortage. Many good substitutes are available.

Persons eating less meat will not suffer nutritionally if they substitute a variety of cereals, milk products, beans, nuts, peanuts, eggs, and green leafy vegetables for meat.

Fish and poultry — whether fresh, frozen, or canned are excellent substitutes, if you can get them at low enough prices. Check the prices on canned tuna, for example, or on whole frozen chicken or turkey. This is a good time to use imaginative shopping techniques and to read the labels carefully on new and unfamiliar food products.

There are thousands of persons of various cultural groups and numbers of vegetarians in California who eat little or no animal flesh (though usually milk and eggs). These persons are quite unaffected by high meat prices.

I am not suggesting that you should become a vegetarian. But, for short periods it will not hurt any of us to reduce our meat consumption considerably until this temporary period of artificial shortages is over.

For Today's Woman

By Carol Drake
Food Consultant

Most of us indulge in moments of nostalgia and bring to mind things that were enjoyed in the "good old days." Like old-fashioned taffy pulls that showed there was no generation gap as the whole family joined in. Teen age taffy parties also were such fun. Other candy making sessions were great, too. Making peanut brittle, divinity, fudge . . . popcorn balls, candied apples, etc., were popular at get-togethers. Why not pick up the makings for some of these on your next visit to Safeway and see how your family enjoys happy sessions like these.

Packing a big picnic basket and heading for a day in the sun at the park or beach is another activity families enjoy. And remember the hayrides? Even today, there are places where you can rent equipment for a hayride. And how about the box socials, where the girls packed boxes of food and the boys bid for them at an auction? The bidding was pretty spirited sometimes as the boys vied to buy boxes packed by the most popular girls since winning bidder and the girl shared the food.

OTHER OLD-TIME EVENTS TO CONSIDER: Wiener roasts (Safeway Franks are perfect for these) . . . Fish Fries (Captain's Choice pre-cooked seafoods are ready in minutes) . . . Treasure Hunts (The hostess might serve Busy Baker Cookies, Cragmont Cola, Safeway Canned Ham and Mrs. Wright's Sandwich Buns, etc.)

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of August 10 to 11, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than eight other top supermarket chains'.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $.70 to $7.92 on the $40 to $50 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

All advertised meat items are offered for sale subject to availability from our supplies. Advertised beef prices are after trimming of the excess fat in preparation of retail cuts. Should the beef ceiling be removed, we shall be forced to change retail prices in line with changes in wholesale costs during the period that this ad is effective.

Is This the End of the Ink for This Ex-Coach?

Le Pacini

Rich Burt

If Rich Burt keeps getting promotions we're going to turn an "Administrator Speaks" section of the column over to him. Burt is the assistant-principal administration at Terra Nova High School who was named recently the new principal of Thornton High. He is also a former star high school athlete (Oakland), amateur boxer, professional baseball player (Detroit chain) and high school basketball coach, which explains what he's doing in this column — again.

As a prep basketball coach at Terra Nova, Rich was somewhat of an innovator with then-weak teams and his philosophical and psychological approach to sports in general and basketball in particular provided us with some of our more interesting columns in those bygone days of sweat and prayer.

BURT HAD come to Terra Nova as a part of its original faculty in 1960 after three years of coaching at St. Vincent's of Vallejo, with an assignment to teach U.S. history and coach the basketball team. Although he admittedly had never been one of your natural U.S. history teachers, that assignment evolved as the easier of his two challenges at the new school.

Surveying what he had to work with — a group of kids who couldn't dribble a ball twice consecutively without bouncing it off their big toe and no relief in sight because of the lack of a junior basketball program in either the elementary schools or the recreation department in Pacifica at that time — he decided he was going to have to develop his own long-term, non-paying basketball program. Thus he started a Saturday program in the Terra Nova gym where he gathered fifth and sixth graders and taught them how to miss their big toe.

THE PROGRAM worked, over a very long haul, and just when it seemed to be reaching fruition in 1966, Burt was given his vice-principalship and Don Delbon, the former Jefferson sports whiz, inherited the team. Terra Nova almost took the championship that year, their bid against Sout San Francisco eventually spoiled by Mike Orlich's Jefferson Indians.

It was just about at that time that we did a column on Burt, on his frustrations of having to sit in the stands and seeing "his" team lose so torturously. He also almost seemed to have misgivings about "leaving" his boys.

"THEY (THE PLAYERS) told me I spoke with a forked tongue," chuckled Burt during our interview then. "They figured I had betrayed them because here I had been telling them for all these years that basketball is the greatest and then I'm suddenly working in the office, as far away from the gym as I could be. But actually, I was flattered, even proud of that moniker 'traitor,' because it proved to me that I had really instilled in them the devotion to and respect for basketball that I had always strived for."

Burt had been at St. Vincent's, a small school, ranked in the top 30 prep basketball teams in Northern California and had been offered a position coaching a team which had the year before been ranked third in Northern California, before he chose the job offer at Terra Nova. When we asked him why, he said:

"I CHOSE TERRA NOVA because I felt that at the other school there wasn't much room for improvemtnt with a three rating, but that here there was nowhere to go but up. It was a chance to inculcate my own philosophy and techniques from the ground floor, to grow with the job. It was a challenge, just as becoming a vice-principal is.

"Really, life is competition, just one big contest, a game. A man continually must test himself if he's to remain a vital human being. I don't really look on school administration as too much different than coaching. I'm still working with kids and trying to solve many parallel and analogous problems. The only real difference is keeping in mind that my new job will be chiefly to handle discipline problems and that I'll have more team members."

Ironically, Burt in 1966 was taking the place of Floyd Gonella, who was moving on as the principal of the then-new Thornton High. Gonella is now an assistat superintendent in the Jefferson Union High School District. We remember Gonella, a former Terra Nova football coach, speaking of Thornton as just another new challenge, as in coaching. Gonella made a success of Thornton, a school which then and now has more built-in problems than any school in the district. It may be comforting for the Jefferson school board, which approved Burt, to know that he has the same perception of his new job as did one of his successors, another former Terra Nova coach.

FOOTNOTE: Open Letter to Rich Burt: Dear Rich when we did that column on you and your new job in early 1967, we told you we were glad you got it because we were getting tired of doing columns about you. "This is your last ink in the sports pages," we told you, "so enjoy it and make it last."

So OK, you snookered us into another one. But this is definitely it! No more. Unless, of course, there is, someday, a superintendent's job open. . . . ."

SOME STATISTICAL TALK: The American League's combined designated hitter batting average, according to latest official figures, is .250. The leading team in this category is Baltimore, with a .292. Oakland is fifth, hitting .255.

The two leading individual batting averages belong to the Yankees' Celerino Sanchez (.400) and Oakland's Rich McKinney (.353), who recently was shipped back to the minors. They are not "regular" designated hitters, however. Among regulars, Baltimore's Tommy Davis leads, hitting .314 in that role.

Orlando Cepeda, Boston, leads DH's in homers and RBI's.

They keep talking about Baltimre and Oakland pitching, but the lowest team ERA in the American League belongs to the Yankees, who own a 3.05. Baltimore's is 3.08, Oakland's 3.14. The Yanks, in fact, are behind only the Dodgers in all of baseball, the Angelenos having the only team ERA below 3.00.

It isn't only Dodger pitching that has put them and kept them on top of the NL. Not only are they leading the league in hitting, but they have been shut out only three times all year.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Considering the facts that the Bay Area isn't big enough for both the Giants and the A's, that Charley Finley doesn't mind making moves, that he's has pulled off some of baseball's best player acquisitions in recent years, and that Horace Stoneham loves San Francisco and would rather not move, why doesn't Horace consumate the baseball story of the century and hire Finley as his general manager?

Cordero, Nursery, Odd Squad Keep Slates Clean

The B League South action last week, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, had J. C. Penney's extracting a tough 12-10 softball win from the Western Dental Ducks behind the hitting of Al Olivar, Fred Wooding and Lou Botti.

Corpus Christi withdrew a 15-7 win from the I.R.S. to hold on a share of the division lead. In other action the B of A Rooks stung the Hornets 7-6 in a good defensive game.

"B" LEAGUE EAST—Cordero Chevrolet continues to roll over opponents in the B League East. Last week the Bayshore Baptists bowed to the drivers 9-7. This was a come-from-behind victory led by the hitting of Dean Smith, Dave Gonzalez, Bruce Heise, Don Fletcher and Gene Siefert.

The World of Carpets trimmed Long's Drugs 10-9 in a game that saw the lead change hands three times before the final verdict was in. John Mendez tripled to give the Carpetmen the margin of victory in the sixth inning. John Galea went 2-for-3 after just coming off the disabled list.

The Turf Club once again came from behind for its third one-run victory in a row. Scoring three times in the fifth and once again in the seventh inning they overcame 2-0 Tippy's lead. The big hit was an infield single by Bob Hurst which drove in three runs as Tippy's threw the ball away. The winning Turfmen scored on singles by Eric Olsen and Pat Tonna and again a throwing error by Tippy's.

In other action the French A.C. edged Melody Toyota 6-5.

B LEAGUE WEST — Thunder rattled Bader's Raiders 11-1 with a complete team effort that keeps them in the lead for 1st place with a 5-0 record.

In other action the Turf Club trampled the Security Traders 14-0 behind the shutout pitching of Gilio Consentino and Bill Spence. Clubbing the ball for the Dennis Russe, Pete Calabro and Clubbers were Don Katona, Dennis Russe, Pete Calabro and Ron Junge.

The Wreckems flushed J & J Plumbing 21-9 and increased their record to 4-1. Three home-runs were collected by Mike Mjehovich along with four hits by Leighton AhPo and a home-run by Joel Carrara.

Greco Bar served the Glen Club a cup of defeat 15-4. Home runs by Joe Skaar, Dan Luciano and Larry Sylvester provided Greco's scoring drive and also sparked a good defensive effort.

In other action the Golden Coach beat CANCO 12-4 while B of A swept the Hookers 7-6.

D.C. School Tax Rate Is Increased

The Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees had some good news for both Daly City taxpayers and for district teachers last week.

While property owners can look forward to an anticipated tax rate cut of some 36 cents, the district's certificated personnel were given a 7.3 per cent across the board pay raise — their first in two years.

Keith Breon, acting superintendent, told the school board he was "shooting for an 8 per cent increase" for the teachers and might be able to reach that goal when the financial picture becomes clearer at the start of the school year.

He was also hopeful of getting enough money together to give the district's classified employes "at least a 2 per cent raise."

If the county agrees with Breon's budgetary figures later this month, the local tax rate for school support will drop to $2.48 per $100 of assessed valuation needed to meet the 1973-74 budget of $10.5 million.

The pay raise did not affect Breon's own salary.

Only Associate Superintendent for Instruction Dr. Vin Stratton was given a pay raise — to $23,260 per year.

John Lynch, business supervisor for the Millbrae School District who has been assisting Breon with this year's budget preparation, said he found $210,000 in various categories in the previous preliminary budget prepared by ousted administrators Roger Barthuli and Frank Greenwood. In addition, $115,000 was added to revenues as a result of the district qualifying for certain state funding under what is known as "deficit spending" programs.

BASSA BIRTHDAY — Trustees of the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency, the nine-county regional government responsible for water quality management within the San Francisco Bay Area, observe the agency's first birthday. Accomplishments of the Agency's first year include preparation of the 1973 Regional Water Quality Management Plan (hearings set for August 15), recruitment of an expert staff, establishment of ongoing administrative and fiscal practices, involvement in statewide planning and assistance to local agencies. Pictured, left to right, Agency President Mayor Norman Y. Mineta of San Jose, Daly City Councilman Bernard J. Lycett and San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald. Lycett and Fitzgerald represent San Mateo County on the 21-member governing board of the regional agency.

Troop 369 Earns 60 Badges

Scouts from Daly City's Troop 369 returned recently from a two-week stay at Camp Royaneh near Cazadero.

Participating in the advancement program and outdoor activities were Dana Bryan, Scott Vogel, Ken Boasso, Bill Guzman and Brian Watson of the Flying Eagle Patrol; Tony Fretty, Glenn Stutesman, David Rosendall and Jim Schumacher of the Rattlesnakes; Mark Spiegel of the Redskins; Steve Hauschildt, David Richwood, Mike Hyde, Jon Rosendall, Mike Schumacher and Tripoy Sliter of the Vikings; Jay Pierce, F. J. Pratt and Kirt Stadler of the Leadership Corps; and Mike Burns, Rich Bagnall and Bob Bryan from the troop headquarters, along with assistant scoutmasters Martin Dreiling, Bill Leavitt, Fred Pratt and Scoutmaster Ray Boasso.

More than 60 merit badges were earned by the Scouts, as Mike Burns and Jay Pierce obtained the required badges for Eagle Scout and Ken Boasso and Bob Bryan qualified for Gold Eagle Palms. Kirt Stadler attained Life Scout rank. Steve Hauschildt and Mike Schumacher reached Star Scout level and Mike Hyde received the Tenderfoot award.

Mile swim awards went to: Ken Boasso, Bob Bryan, F. J. Pratt, Jim Schumacher, Mike Schumacher, Kirt Stadler, Scott Vogel and Brian Watson; and Scout Life Guard certificates were earned by Ken Boasso, Steve Hauschildt, F. J. Pratt and Mike Schumacher.

Selected as candidates for membership in the Order of the Arrow were Scouts Steve Hauschildt, Mike Schumacher, Kirt Stadler, Louis Tinsley and Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Leavitt.

Lung Unit In SSF

Health checkups to give early warning of such lung diseases as cancer, emphysema and tuberculosis will be offered the public Aug. 24 and 25 at Brentwood Shopping Center in South San Francisco.

The mobile monitoring unit of the Lung Association (formerly TB and Respiratory Disease Association of San Mateo County) will be in operation both days in the vicinity of the Texaco service station, 209 El Camino Real.

Hours Aug. 24 will be noon to 2 p.m. and 2:30 to 6 p.m. and Aug. 25 noon to 5 p.m. No advance appointment is necessary.

Available services include breathing tests, chest X-rays (advised for persons over 40 and those who smoke) and skin tests (to determine whether a person has been exposed to TB).

Contributions to the Lung Association's annual Christmas Seal campaign defray some of the cost of the checkups. To help cover the remainder there is a fee of $2 for each of the services.

Summer Skeds Near End for DC Playgrounds

ABRAHAM LINCOLN — It was a battle to the end as Abe Lincoln staged its first "Ugly Man Contest." Winners were Chris Sala, John Sanders and Scott Kiene. Runners-up were Allen Havneraas, Karen Mickels, Tony Sala, Catherine Crowley and Tina Dotti.

If anyone has anything to add to the end-of-the-year scrapbook, bring it in. Pictures, souvenirs and ideas are welcome.

COLMA — Just as sure as the fog rolls into Daly City, the "Colma Whackers" slaughtered Little Jeff 6-5 in broom hockey to avenge an earlier defeat by Little Jeff.

Offensively, Nicky Huertas led the Colma attack with a hat trick. Greg Zanders had two goals and Scott Martin finished the Colma scoring with one.

Defensively the stars are numerous. Greg Taylor, Earl Woods, Steve Martin, Tony Schultz, Mark O'Shea, Greg Ortiz, Danny Huertas and Steve Rosa helped repel the Little Jeff attack. Tim Howard gets the "Giles Meloche Award" for his job as goalie. Richard Rosa backed Howard with a good effort.

In softball Colma again proved its superiority over Little Jeff, 13-11. Colma's attack was led by Gigie England, Greg Taylor, Nicky Huertas and Greg Zanders.

The "king" of the Ping-Pong ladder is Greg Zanders. Diana Maxwell, Roberta Martini and Tony Schultz continue to try for the top spot. The carrom leadder is led by Greg Ortiz. His challengers are Jerry Santa, Greg Taylor, Tony Santana and Ricardo Sanchez.

This week's "Alfred E. Newman Award" goes to Richard Rosa. Rosa allowed Little Jeff five goals in four minutes while substituting for Tim Howard. Rosa will go down in Colma's annals for being the first goalie with stone hands.

DANIEL WEBSTER — Daniel Webster ended its broom hockey season with a 3-0 loss to CLM. Webster Bladers included Tony Bruno, George Martin, Dave Hirsch, John Drocco and John Arardo.

The softball season final is planned for Wednesday and Webster is expected to win the city championship.

Anyone interested in playing in any of the team divisions may contact the rec leader at Daniel Webster.

F. D. ROOSEVELT — FDR's softball team handily defeated Little Jeff by the score of 4-2 for a season record of 3-0. This is the first undefeated FDR team and they have high hopes of sweeping the citywide "Play Day" at Colma.

The score was tied until the eighth inning when FDR exploded for four hits and two runs. Marty Sand's triple and Bill Gurr's double, combined with great fielding by Buzzy Amoroso and hitting by Clyde Amaral and Peter Ricci were the major sparkplugs for FDR.

Last week's barbeque was highlighted by a good old-fashioned marshmallow roast. Among the many roasters were John Profeit, Mike Goetsch, Kermit and Rene Scarborough, Sammy Hernandez and the Lewis and Carion families. Denny Flannery and Cory Cafferata were crowned "co-cooks-of-the-week."

LITTLE JEFF — Danny Mendoza walked home with an apple pie after gobbling his way to first place in the "I made a pig of myself at Little Jeff" pie eating contest. Lisa Goodman came in a close second with Steve Meyers following third. Last Friday's barbeque was held courtesy of Joe, everybody's favorite janitor.

In a broom hockey rematch with Colma, the Jeff Pioneers fell short of victory, 6-5. The team remained scoreless until the last period when they put on the pressure with five quick goals. Danny Mendoza, Ron Portillo, Clay Younger, Billy Pittman, Chuck Sherman and George Desperati made up the Jeff stickers.

Jeff was tough against FDR but was defeated 4-2. In its game with Colma, the team made a last-inning comeback to bring the score to 13-11.

Outstanding performances were displayed by Ron Portillo and Chuck Sherman, home run hitters. Other team members included Billy and Glenn Kinard, Mike Simon, Danny Mendoza, Tom Patrick, George Desperati and Clay Younger.

MARCHBANKS PARK — After splitting a doubleheader with Little Jeff, Marchbanks Park bounded back to whip Woodrow Wilson 14-6. Fine performances were turned in by Alan Banks, Dave Rally, Eugene and Sidward Rose, Earl Walker and Mark Richards. During that same week a determined Vista Grande team beat the Marchbanks nine.

The bike trip to Golden Gate Park turned out to be outstanding, with all participants enjoying it.

OLYMPIA — Last week Dee Dee O'Gorman took the Ping-Pong title by defeating Johnny Robbins and "Egor." Shorty Carrara won at strikeout by slamming three third-inning "taters" to beat the recreation leader 4-0 and earn the distinction of being the only player to shut the leader out this summer.

He joins Pat O'Gorman as the two winners since they did not.

Susan Savage again dominates the carroms board as she beats everybody. Her latest victims were Mike Keller, Debbie Young and Ricky Lauser. Stevie Patfield is rolling all over on his roller skates.

OLM — It was a great upset last week when OLM's Sweepers defeated Daniel Webster's team in broom hockey. The score was 3-0 with the help of the defense and goalie Dan Cunnie. Goals were scored by Steve Walker, Mike Scott and Ed Migale. Dick Gallinai, John Ferrini, Gary Migale, John Sullivan and Gene Murray put up a good defensive and offensive attack.

A popular game at OLM is "run around the Ping-Pong table." Katny and Jeanine Cunnie, Mary, Jim and Dan Diggins, Shari Ferrini, Anne Sullivan and other pongers make it a thrilling competitive game for all.

PANORAMA — Panorama activities for the week were a competitive softball game. Tony Sebastiani hit three home runs. Other stars were Dino Four-for-four was high statistic for the game by Dave Lopez. DiGiovanni, Darryl Jackson, Ralph Macia and Nick Petros. Carroms champs are Julie Draper and Julie Sebastiani.

VISTA GRANDE — The "Over the Hill Gang" evened its record at 5-5 with victories over Marchbanks, 13-11, and Woodrow Wilson, 3-2. Against Marchbanks, the Gang broke the game open with an eight-run third inning. Tim Tompkins had four hits and three runs, while Jose Ruiz and Nancy Buitrago had two hits apiece.

"The Gang" squeezed past Wilson in the most exciting game of the summer. Strong defense stifled all of Woodrow's rallies, especially in the ninth inning, when Wilson had the bases loaded with one out and failed to score. John and Andrew Wetherbee, Rick Perez and Francisco Ruiz played strong defensive games.

The carrom tournament again was won by Arthur Diaz. Victor Ruiz took second, while Jose Ruiz was third. Other participants were Elizabeth Carranza, Michelle Washington, Steve Tisell and Chris Scapatici.

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL — The Woodrow Wilson softball team again went down in defeat to Marchbanks Park and Vista Grande last week. The respective scores were 19-6 and 3-2. In the second game Woodrow played good defense, sparked by John Cosmos at third base. Cosmos also led the team in hitting as he went 3-for-4 with one RBI. John Bender also got an RBI which scored Marcos Jimenez.

Hooligans Take 2nd

The final game in the Daly City Summer High School Softball League saw the Hooligans defeat the Superstars 9-5 for second place.

Both teams had compiled records of 5-3, which made the playoff game necessary.

Strong hitting for the Hooligans and one bad inning of defense by the Superstars proved the deciding factor as Bob Kossick, Tim Gravelle, John Simon and Andy Gravelle led the Hooligans' hitting attack.

Final results for league honors were the Regal Selects in first place with an 8-0 record and the Hooligans in second at 6-3.

Cool Bandit Takes $2,000 From Safe

The young, well-dressed man who held up the Safeway supermarket in Broadmoor last night and fled after taking some $2,000 from a safe, has been described as one of the coolest persons police have yet encountered.

Not only did the robber disarm a Broadmoor police veteran of 20 years and lock him and a store clerk in a walk-in cooler, but he forced the store's manager to accompany him to the front of the building and wave goodbye as he drove away.

"Wave goodbye as if we were old friends," he ordered night manager Eugene Calhoun, 34 of Pacifica, as he climbed into his parked car and drove away.

Calhoun waited until the car sped off and ran back inside the store to free Broadmoor Police Officer George Carleton and Clerk Tino Villar, 37, of Colma.

Both men were "a little cold," but otherwise unhurt.

The unusual incident started shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday when Manager Calhoun called police to help check out the store before closing time.

A black man, between 23 and 28 years old, well dressed and wearing gloves, had entered the store and asked for the rest room. The request was denied.

Calhoun did not notice the man leave the store and figured he was hiding out somewhere inside.

Together with Office Carleton, Calhoun started an aisle by aisle search of the building.

When they approached a pile of cardboard boxes in the rear storeroom, the man jumped out with a gun in his hand and rammed it into Calhoun's stomach.

If Carleton decided to go for his gun the store manager would be shot, according to reports.

Carleton dropped his .38-caliber police special.

"It's a good thing you're old or I'd kill you right now," the gunman calmly told the 53-year-old Carleton.

According to Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage the gunman informed Carleton that a "young cop had killed my buddy."

The man then herded Villar and Carleton into a walk-in freezer, ripped two phones off the wall and forced Calhoun to open the safe.

Less than two hours before the store had made a deposit of weekend receipts, accounting for the small sum on hand, police said.

Service News

IN INFANTRY

Private Michael J. Warner, son of Mrs. Eliz Silva, 24 Werner Ave., Daly City, has completed nine weeks of advanced individual training at the U.S. Army Infantry Traning Center, Ft. Polk, La.

He received general training as a light weapons infantryman and as a mortar and recoilless rifle crewman, in addition to specialized weapons instruction.

He also was taught the proper use of high explosives and the placement, detection and disarming of mines.

ALASKA VISIT

Navy Seaman Recruit Earl T. Cousart, 1531 Crestwood Drive, San Bruno, has completed a Chief of Naval Operations-sponsored four-day port visit to Anchorage aboard this dock landing ship.

During the July visit the Monticello delivered a 33-foot former Navy motor launch to the local Sea Cadet chapter. Thirteen cadets lived aboard the ship during the visit, experiencing shipboard life while the crew and embarked units participated in daily static displays, boat rides, underwater demolition team paradrops and a Fourth of July parade.

TO SAN DIEGO

Navy Fireman Francis J. Rebarber Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Rebarber Sr., 1124 Hanover St., Daly City, is a crew member of the multi-purpose aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk, which is changing her homeport back to San Diego after undergoing extensive overhaul at the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard in San Francisco.

While in San Diego, Kitty Hawk will conduct training operations in preparation for deployment to the Western Pacific in the fall.

RECRUIT

Navy Fireman Recruit Robert P. Martin, son of Mr. Robert L. Martin of 3631 Sneath Lane, San Bruno, was graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center at San Diego recently.

Health Dept. Offers Picnic Safety Tips

Planning a picnic this weekend? Here are some words to the wise from the Environmental Health Section of the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare.

If you're the typical picnicker you'll probably load your food basket with deviled eggs, potato salad, ham or chicken salad sandwiches, creamed or scalloped dishes and cream-filled desserts. If you take a food basket like that to a picnic you're flirting with food poisoning.

The most common cause of food poisoning is staphylococcus bacteria. The staph germs are likely to be found in starchy foods and sweets, such as potatoes, cream pies and custards.

Salmonella, another bacteria that can cause food poisoning, may be present in poultry, eggs, meat, potato salads and other foods when they are not refrigerated properly. Staph poisoning can hit in as short a time as two hours and salmonella poisoning develops between seven and 72 hours.

Although this type of food poisoning is seldom fatal it can cause an acute illness of short duration. Its symptoms include abdominal pain, chills, fever, frequent vomiting, diarrhea and prostration. Recovery from staph is rapid, usually within one day, while salmonella may linger for a week or longer.

To guard against food poisoning, follow this advice:

Be sure that all foods that need refrigeration are kept cold until eaten. These include puddings, custard fillings, cream desserts, fish in all forms, scrambled or deviled eggs, potato salads and other salads mixed with mayonnaise, to name only a few.

The best way to keep picnic food cool is to use an insulated box with a tight-fitting cover. Use a lot of ice.

Wrap refrigerated sandwiches snugly in waxed paper or aluminum foil and pack them into the chilled insulated box immediately before leaving home. The contents will remain cool a few hours.

Do not serve hot creamed or scalloped dishes, especially those using milk, eggs, flour or starch, unless they are made just before picnic time and kept hot until served.

If you don't have an insulated box, plan a menu of foods which are not likely to spoil, such as peanut butter, jellies, canned meats and other foods in canned and sealed jars and bottles that can be opened just before using. Fresh fruit, which should be washed before eating, can be used for dessert.

If you use ham, egg, chicken or other meat salad sandwiches, don't make them in advance. Take along the bread and the mixture under refrigeration and make sandwiches at the picnic.

Never prepare, transport or store beverages or food in galvanized containers. Acid action on zinc results in an end product that frequently causes gastrointestinal upsets of varying severity.

The humble, old-fashioned hot dog is one of the safest meats to take on any picnic. Its skin-tight casing discourages bacteria.

DC Troop 84 Goes to Camp

Boy Scout Troop 84 of Daly City spent the last week camped out in summer camp at Camp Cutter. Twenty-one members of the troop, led by Scoutmaster Peter Konstan and Unit Commissioner Ted Valoria, spent the week working hard under the tutelage and guidance of the camp instructors.

The young scouts of the troop earned and received over 20 skill awards and ten merit badges, to be awarded at the troop's next Court of Honor.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

"Sound of Music" At Shirt Tail Restaurant

The Shirt Tail was alive with "The Sound of Music," as the cast of the production came in after a performance at Foothill College. Jimmy Rodgers played the piano, and Captain Von Trapp (Jim Bradford) and Maria (Cleta Richards) sang songs from the show. It was a memorable night . . . During the Summer months Nevada always appears to be where the fun is — and what better way to enjoy it than letting Park Avenue Tours plan a trip to South Lake Tahoe. Whether you're driving or taking the Greyhound Bus, Park Avenue Tours can arrange for overnight accommodations, bonuses and cash refunds. Call now — and see how easy it is . . . Breakfast is served all day at the Villa Coffee House, located in the Villa Hotel. And if you're anything like your Bright Lighter, a breakfast cereal (hot or dry) tastes good any time of the day. For hearty appetites, order one of their combinations. An international touch has been added to the 24-hour menu. Specials from different countries are featured on various days of the week. If you're fond of Corned Beef and Cabbage, the Irish Special is a Thursday sell-out. It includes tiny white potatoes, carrots, horseradish, garnish, beverage, roll and butter.

Scotty Campbell's Art Collection

Clannish oddments and a priceless collection of antiques from all over the world are to be found at Scotty Campbell's, a Redwood City restaurant which has won honors for its culinary offerings, atmosphere, and hospitality. Dining guests select the entree of their choice — and that determines the cost of dinner, which is started off with a crisp tossed salad (choice of dressing) and a basket of hot French bread. You also owe it to yourself to try Scotty Campbell's special dessert — Maerd Eip (Dream Pie spelled backward). It's a smooth-tasting cheese cake topped with a touch of cherry . . . Things are bustling at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. Back by popular demand is "Petite Lobster Tails" (broiled or saute in mushrooms). All varieties of fresh fish when available are served, and there is a great selection of Italian dishes, among which are Baked Lasagne, Veal Scaloppini and Checken Saute Sec (choice of spaghetti, ravioli, vegetable or potatoes with these orders, except Baked Lasagne). Then there's always the nextdoor Fish Depot for fresh seafood to take home.

Torres Montara Restaurant

Indefatigable is a word that best describes Frank and Fannie Torres, the couple who continue to operate Torres Beach restaurant in Montara (that's located just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One). The friendly pair have been offering the residents of the Coastside and people from all over the Bay Area their superb South American specialties for years, and it looks like they will continue to do so for many years to come . . . Although food prices have been going up, this hasn't seemed to affect the recently re-designed dinner menu at the Brentwood Lodge, in South San Francisco. Owners Vic Scafani and John Graziano were so pleased with customer reaction that they refuse to consider raising the dinner prices . . . The various Peninsula Arby's locations are still featuring a remarkable 99-cent dinner special which is available from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. every day of the week. And this includes Arby's famous Roast Beef Sandwich, French fries and salad . . . Bishop is the group providing the sounds Tuesdays through Saturdays at Pete Brallier's Whiskey Hill, in Burlingame. Special concerts are an every-Sundaynight feature.

Live Music Every Night

Erik Pederson, general manager of the Rodeway Inn, located on Airport Row in South San Francisco, is now featuring an entertainment policy of live music every night of the week in the Golden Rooster Lounge. Performing Tuesdays through Saturdays are the Murphys, a talented band from Australia. On Sundays and Mondays, the Bantams provide the dance sounds . . . Fred Taber, manager of Tanforan Park's Red Carpet Pizza and Hot Dogs, has extended the expiration date for his money-saving coupon. The coupon, which offers a great savings on any take-out pizza, is good through Sept. 18 . . . Manager Toni DeSanders has made a realistic attempt to beat inflation at Diamond Lil's in San Mateo. Her recent introduction of a luncheon menu, which features a wide variety of budget-priced items, is getting big results. Friday's big attraction is a Baked Crab Sandwich. Any luncheon item ordered also includes homemade potato salad or soup, and a nickel glass of beer, if desired . . . The wild dance sounds of Scrap Iron remain a major enticement at Abbey Road, Tuesdays through Saturdays. Many of the band's fans have discovered that the group has moved back to the Peninsula.

South S. F. Holiday Inn For Bus Transportation

The Rapp Brothers, Fred and Jerry will be sending a number of buses to the 49er home games at Candlestick Park from their South San Francisco Holiday Inn. Bus tickets for the round-trip excursion are $2.50 per person. You can bet that most fans will also take the opportunity to enjoy the Inn's magnificent Sunday brunch before taking off. The Rapps have also arranged for ex-49er R. C. Owens to be on hand each Sunday morning prior to a home game . . . After six months of planning and making the needed charges, the new International Gourmet Deli owners have created the type of operation they originally intended. In addition to "Super Sandwiches" of many different combinations, the Deli has added full-course gourmet lunches. Everything is also prepared to take out in special packages to keep the food warm . . . Although now serving Chinese dinners, Ray Lim, chef at the Skylark in San Mateo, is also proud of the typically American dishes on his menu. Steaks, including filet and the New York cut, are favorites with many, as well as such seafood entrees as Lobster Tail and the combination Surf and Turf. Also take out service. All credit cards are honored.

ROCK N' ROLL WILL STAND — Butch Whacks and The Glass Packs, nine guys who have gained a big following with their 1950's Rock n' Roll satires, will perform in concert Thursday night, Aug. 23, at The Band Stand, in Redwood City. Slated for a Band Stand concert on Aug. 29 is Grand Central Station.

Shirt Tail Wine List Exceptional

The wine list at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto boasts something for every connoisseur: Pouilly Fuisse, Blue Nun, Gamay Beaujolais and Chateauneuf du Pape. Their champagnes include Mumm's Extra Dry . . . Quality and quantity seem to be a trademark at Saluto's in Burlingame. Last week the restaurant, celebrating its first anniversary, served over 4000 lunches and dinners . . . Jacques Cousteau, French ocean expert and explorer, stayed at the Hilton Inn when in the Bay Area a few days ago. The famous marine scientist enjoyed dinner in the French Corner restaurant and complimented manager Horst Dziura on the delicious food and courteous service . . . He is the king of pizzas. He has perfected the art of preparing the small, medium or large pizza. He knows the exact combination of cheese, mushrooms, salami, anchovies, etc. Who is this singular individual? He is none other than Enrico Romano, owner and operator of Romano's Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. . . . Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, is a favorite dining spot for theatergoers. Open seven nights a week, it has ample doorside parking in the adjacent Taylor-Ellis lot, and it's within easy walking distance of ten downtown theaters.

Unique Phones Help Handicapped

Special telephones for the physically handicapped, "America's last minority group," are a reality in North San Mateo County, according to Pacific Telephone manager Nick Roden in Pacifica.

About nine million severely handicapped people with impaired sight, hearing, speech and motion and, another 43 million people with less severe physical handicaps in America "are moving into the nation's mainstream because of new communications inventions," Roden claimed.

"Life can be made easier for the handicapped," he noted, "with telephones that operate by touch, breath and even by blinking the eyelid."

For the deaf, a "Code-Com" set transmits touch and visual signals using Morse Code. A watchcase receiver, also invented by Bell Laboratories, enables a person with good hearing to listen to the distant party and repeat soundlessly what is said, enabling the deaf person to read his lips and respond as though he could hear.

A "Signalman" device can alert a deaf person to an incoming call with a light or a fan. A volume control handset amplifies incoming speech, and a bone conduction receiver transmits sound vibrations to the inner ear.

There's also a teletypewriter network for the deaf, using older machines donated by telephone companies, Western Union or other communications firms.

Blind and visually handicapped people have little difficulty learning to dial a telephone. A six-button office telephone can be modified so that a sightless person can tell which lines are in use. A seeing-aid probe makes it possible for the blind to earn a living as switchboard attendants or in a telephone answering service.

Speech handicaps include partial or total inability to produce articulated sounds. Communications devices can help people with speech problems—the volume-control handset for example which amplifies a person's voice, and an electronic artificial larynx for those whose vocal chords are paralyzed or have been surgically removed.

Telephone aids for people with paralysis, chronic muscular weakness or loss of limbs can be specially designed to use the handicapped person's remaining faculties to best advantage. A person who can't hold a telephone receiver can use a flexible gooseneck arm for hands-free calling. Standard rotary dials can be altered to make them easier to turn. Some handicapped people hold dialing rods in their mouths to dial and turn the phone on and off. It's even possible to provide telephone controls which operate by touch, blowing or blinking the eyelids.

Pacific Telephone also offers special intruments for students who are temporarily or permanently unable to leave their homes or the hospital. School-to-home phone service frequently is installed for students who are ill, to provide direct communication between their classrooms and the home, so they will not fall behind in school work.

As a result some people have gone through elementary school, high school and college without leaving their homes. Another device, called Teleclass, connects a number of homebound students to a teacher in a studio.

Guilt Plea In Shooting

Annie B. Small, 40, has pleaded guilty to a charge of voluntary manslaughter for killing the boyfriend of her daughter on June 3 and is scheduled to be sentenced by Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo on Sept. 6.

Mrs. Small was originally charged with murder and was scheduled to stand trial today. She pleaded guilty to the lesser charge on Aug. 10.

Mrs. Small shot Larry V. Cash, 20, twice in the heart and once in the abdomen at an apartment complex at 505 Hampshire Ave. south of Redwood City.

Mrs. Small claimed Cash attempted to push her off a balcony when she shot him. The argument was originally between her daughter, Laura, 18, and Cash, it was reported.

Man Hurt In Escape At Beach

A 30-year-old man, locked inside a public toilet at Coyote Point Beach, fractured both heels while escaping from the structure Saturday.

Denny T. Dennison of Portola Valley told police he was using the men's restroom when he heard the main door close at 6 p.m.

When Dennison tried to leave he found he was locked in. He then discovered that the restroom shower area was roofless, and he scaled a 11-foot-high wall.

Dennison leaped from the wall to the beach, suffering the injuries when he landed.

The victim dragged himself about 20 feet from the building where he was discovered by passersby who called San Mateo police. Police called an ambulance which took Dennison to Mills Hospital.

San Mateo police were attempting today to learn who locked the restroom door.

Gin Watched By Firemen

Enough gin to make more than five million martinis was guarded for most of the day in South San Francisco.

It was the fire department on guard, as a tank car containing more than 30,000 gallons of 190 proof gin had sprung a leak at the Hartinoni Co. at 543 Forbes Blvd. in South San Francisco's industrial area.

Just after noon, the tank car had become uncoupled and its brake failed to hold. It rolled off of the end of the track, causing the rupture in the tank. The highly flammable product has a flash point of below 100 degrees, according to firemen. Gin is cut to its proper proof when it is bottled.

Two companies of firemen, including the chemical pumper truck crew, stood by as another tank car was sent from San Francisco, and the gin was transferred from the damaged tank.

If you have ever undertaken to raise money for a worthy cause you know that sometimes the enthusiasm shown by the workers during the first flush of excitement isn't sustained over the long hard months of work and solicitation. Sometimes, toward the end of a drive, the campaign has become a grinding, exhausting work of love carried on by a handful of faithful who may feel betrayed and defeated.

That is the negative side. Today's story is on the positive side and it is one of exuberance and zeal and, while there is no final chapter, each episode ends on a note of success.

THE ORGANIZATION with such a story is the Mary's Help Hospital Guild and the success it has achieved within the hospital and the community is a living testimony to the type of women who pledge their support to its goals.

Five years ago the guild voted to raise the money to finance a coronary care unit at the hospital. It was a large undertaking, $150,000, to be paid off in ten years. Today, in just one half the alloted time, the pledge is marked paid in full and the officers and members are waiting to undertake a new obligation in the fall.

HOW DOES IT happen that volunteers are able to do some much? The 300 members are dedicated body and soul to make the guild a viable force within the hospital by service to the hospital and to the patients and the community from which the patients come. Originally founded when the hospital was located in San Francisco, the guild ceased to operate during World War II. Following the war it was reinstituted and when the move came to the North Peninsula site it blossomed into one of this area's best-organized and wholeheartedly supported units.

Guild activities gained the distinction of becoming "traditionally supported events" almost immediately. The Fuchsia Ball, held each May and the Christmas Boutique gained instant status as "in" happenings.

THE LEADERSHIP, not to be lulled into complacency by success, has updated and expanded the activities of the guild and, in so doing, has consistently drawn new workers to its fold. In addition to the ball and the boutique, the board presents a lasagne luncheon and games day in the spring, a Christmas cocktail party for members and guests and a Christmas card sale.

Year-around members of the guild volunteer their services to staff the gift shop at the hospital and to make the favors that grace the trays of patients during the holidays. The women continually work as volunteers within the hospital, many of them spending hundreds of hours annually helping to make the stays of patients more pleasant and comfortable.

VOLUNTEERS have printed and published a guild cook book and each year the guild sponsors Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at the Serramonte Shopping Center with a variety of events planned to interest the community in the hospital and the workings of the guild.

During 1973 the guild will present the first guild scholarship and plans call for this presentation to be an annual event. Everyone who has ever spent a night in the hospital has received a little handbook of prayers and thoughts appropriate for contemplation during illness and the guild, again, has assumed responsibility for this program.

TO WORK for the guild is to perform an act of unselfish love and a multitude of women carry on that work through a daily commitment of love for mankind and interest in the work of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul at the hospital. The women who contribute to the work are often busy career women and active volunteers in other organizations but they set aside time for this work despite the press of other obligations.

Mrs. Elwin Short, the newly installed president of the guild, has been the recording secretary for two years, a vice president for a year, has chaired several guild activities including the boutique and the Fuchsia Ball and has worked in the gift shop as well as doing volunteer work in the hospital for ten years. She now is the treasurer for the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women; treasurer of the Good Shepherd Guild of San Francisco and publicity chairwoman for the San Francisco County Council of Catholic Women.

SHE IS the past president of the Westlake Catholic Women and chaired the San Francisco Council of Catholic Women's fund-raising event for two years. She was the vice president of the Good Shepherd board for two years and a member of the board for a year. She will replace Mrs. Cal Dunow, the retiring guild president.

All women interested in service to the hospital may join. Membership is open to all who apply to the director of volunteers, Mrs. Mary McCoy, who has an office at the hospital. Meetings are held on the fourth of each when the guild resumes meeting later this month.
month, August through May, beginning with a workshop at 10:30 a.m. and continuing through a luncheon meeting until approximately 2:30 p.m.

More information about the guild and its work may be obtained from the board, which include Mrs. Howard Poblitz, vice president; Mrs. James Katapolis, recording secretary; Mrs. John McCoy, treasurer. Mrs. Walter Michels, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. McRobert Stewart, Mrs. Al Serena and Mrs. Ben Cardinalli, directors.

Hospital Opens New MHU Unit

A 13-bed mental health unit offering inpatient psychiatric services and 24-hour emergency mental health care opened last week at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

The facility, located on the eighth floor of the hospital, is designed to be a short term treatment center. In most cases, patients will not be admitted to the unit for longer than a one-month treatment period, Administrator Rex C. Chase said.

Six of the 13 beds in the mental health unit will be reserved for San Mateo County patients under the Short-Doyle program, according to Chase. The Short-Doyle Act insures that patients needing mental health services receive care in their local communities rather than in state institutions.

Margaret K. Sainio, M.D., Ph.D., has been appointed director of the Division of Psychiatric Medicine at Mary's Help. Formerly administrator and medical director of Belmont Hills Psychiatric Center, Dr. Sainio has worked many years with psychiatric patients. She is board certified in both psychiatry and neurology.

Various modes of treatment for patients entering the Mary's Help facility will be utilized, according to Dr. Sainio. These will include organic therapies, such as psychiatric medications; and psychodymanic therapies, such as insight - oriented individual and group sessions, meditation and scheduled work and recreation therapy.

Rehabilitative programs for patients will be developed and conducted by a team of professionals including nurses, occupational and recreational therapists and a psychiatric social worker.

The Mary's Help mental health unit is funded partially by a grant from the National Institute for Mental Health (NIMH) which was made last year. The NIMH grant was made to four North County agencies which, collectively, form the Community Mental Health Center for the area.

These four agencies are the North County Mental Health Center which will offer day care and outpatient services; Guadalupe Clinic, which will provide outpatient services; Mental Health Recovery, Inc., which will offer residence care, and Mary's Help.

A Fundamental Change In Watergate Dialogue

Last week's Presidential address was widely lamented as not answering the factual dilemma that is Watergate. True enough — questions are unanswered, tapes remain in executive possession — and nagging problems remain.

The seers and commentators were so busy on factual issues, however, that they failed to note a fundamental change in the Watergate dialogue, now confirmed in the Presidential statement. For Watergate presented, initially, multiple issues, some of which may now be finally resolved.

Those supporting the President have articulated several defenses, which can be classified as follows:

(1) The "everybody does it" defense. The argument here is that politics is an ugly business, and that there is nothing unusual or different about the offenses that make up Watergate.

(2) The "ends justify the means" defense. In support of justification a variety of "ends" have been offered up — national security, patriotism, belief in a political philosophy. Strains of this argument ran like a numbing sickness through the testimony before the Senate committee. Certainly this silliness was on the minds of some of the principals as they blundered into the quagmire in the first place.

(3) Factual, technical and legal defenses. These embrace a wide variety of issues as to each of the principals, including the President.

The first two varieties of defense offered to this troubled Republic a taste of the forbidden fruit. Serious acceptance of their false tenets could easily have marked the end of manageable self-government. For if the price of exculpating those under attack was acceptance as truth that all politicians, political parties and public men are venal, we would have assured the venality of future generations of those involved in the poltical process.

Equally damning would have been ultimate resolution of Watergate on the basis that it was justified. For we all espouse causes, and hold our own ideals and dogmas as well worth fighting for. But in a constitutional republic there are limitations — we fight with ideas, words, even money. Not, however, with burglaries, bribery, deceit and trickery. Again, acceptance of these as justified, for whatever reason and on whatever theory might well have fatally torn the democratic fabric. Ends, once triumphant over means in as celebrated a case, would have been the sole test for future political action. In pursuit of our several goals and purposes we would forevermore have felt justified in resorting to vile and demeaning acts. We would not have been safe with one another, much less would our Republic have been safe with us.

Those who offered either of the first two types of defense in support of the President were, in effect, asking others to exchange their morality, and quite possibly their free nation for Richard M. Nixon.

These dangerous clouds seem to have been dispersed in the most recent Presidential statement. In it he made clear that the acts of a few were not common to the politics of the country, and spoke of those who ". . . committed acts that have no place in our political system."

He also deplored the harrassment of individuals, the obstruction of justice, and the compromise of the "great agencies of government that should and must be above politics." He acknowledged that "instances have now come to light in which a zeal for security did go too far and did interfere impermissibly with individual liberty."

He stated "I shall continue to meet my constitutional responsibility to protect the security of this nation so that Americans may enjoy their freedom. But I shall and can do so by constitutional means, in ways that will not threaten that freedom."

In these and other phrases the President gave up the defenses of universality and justification. That he, in other parts of his address, argued his case with strength does not alter this underlying metamorphosis of Watergate.

The issues are now of law and fact: whether evidence should be disclosed, what testimony means, and who is to be believed. Thoughtful men who may want to defend the President need no longer be concerned that their support may be misconstrued as evidencing advocacy of dangerous and fallacious arguments.

If the issues are thus confined within the bounds of acceptable morality, the nation will, in one way or another survive Watergate, and the coming months of hearings and debate. In so clearly relinquishing unacceptable, if tempting defenses, the President assured the nation that the coming dialogue, furious as it may be, will occur within our constitutional and moral tradition.

The Red Man

Ye say they have all passed away,
That noble race and brave;
That their light canoes have vanished
From off the crested wave;
That mid the forests where they roamed
Their rings no hunter's shout
But their names are on our waters;
Ye may not wash them out.
—Lydia Huntly Sigourny

EVERYONE is reading about the native Americans, the Indians, and no one speaks for them in clearer tones than Vine Deloria Jr., a Standing Rock Sioux. He is nauseated by the traditional image of the American Indian. He is disgusted with the thin veneer of sympathy and public support that the "Indians' plight" elicits. Thus with words that burn, he calls for the American Indians to dignify themselves and cease to live "as experts paint us as they would like us to be."

Deloria's "Custer Died for Your Sins," has a subtitle, "An Indian Manifesto." In it he notes that the Indian is about the only type of American that remains unrecognized as a species of human being.

THE THRUST of Deloria's message is that Indians must help themselves by resolving their differences and working as a united people. White people can help by understanding the "red man's" problem.

Truly, "Custer Died for Your Sins," is a book to read — and so are his other books, "Of Utmost Good Faith" and "We Talk, You Listen."

THE DEMAND for material about the American Indian has prompted the publishers of "American West" to devote the entire July issue to the Indian problem.

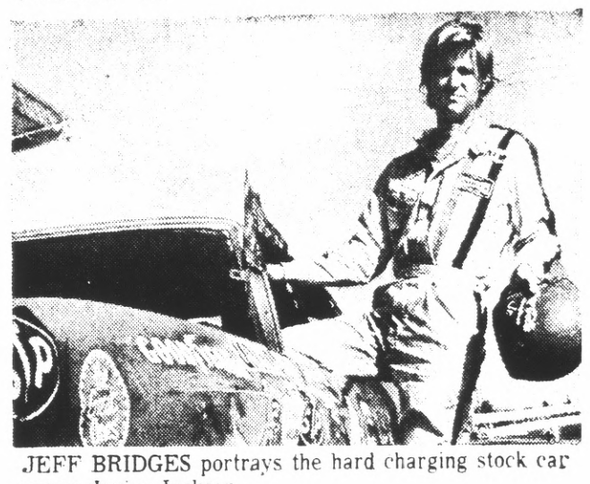
Here is a beautiful magazine that explores the life of a minority from its art to its political problems. An article entitled "How Many Indians Were Killed," by Don Russell estimates the Indian population, when the Pilgrims landed, at a million to a million and a half. Now it is less than a half million. With other figures he separates facts from legends. He deals with such questions as: Who committed the massacres and who suffered the most casualties?

AN ARTICLE called "Red Men on the Plains," by Francis Haines, Sr. is a study in some depth of the culture of such people, as the Blackfoot, the Sioux, the Mandans and others. Still another article explores the military strategy on the Western Frontier. It is entitled, "A Chained Dog: the Indian Fighting Army." Its author is Robert M. Utley.

Surely, the, the July issue of "American West" is an issue to read.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen



JEFF BRIDGES portrays the hard charging stock car racer, Junior Jackson.

'The Last American Hero' starts with such excitement that midway through this visually graphic depiction of a tough, determined (bull headed) young Southern moonshiner, you're worn out with gripping the chair arm and tensing your body against the ferociously slamming race cars.

It starts high and hard and never lets up, thanks to director Lamont Johnson's insistence on emotional impact and super-charged characters. I recommend you catch it at Peninsula theaters this week.

Casting Jeff Bridges, who was so fine in 'The Last Picture Show' and 'Fat City' as Junior Johnson (renamed to Junior Jackson), the aggresssive daredevil of the speedways who is a living legend among racing buffs, was a touch of genius. He's not only convincing but has mastered that smug and silly grin that lets you know, no one is gonna keep Junior from creaming out everyone in his way. It's a fighting spirit mixed with a lot of bravado and suicidal "macho" that keeps him exceeding the limits of safety and fixing his mind on a destructive course that is illogical and bent on winning at all odds.

Rather than a film about stock car racing, the script by William Roberts traces the rise of this unsophisticated boy from an illegal whiskey runner for his father to a champion driver who needed the money to post bail time and time again. His encounters with the commercialism of the sports world was something he hadn't reckoned with, because of a naive rural upbringing. The price he has to pay for being a superstar is woven into the text of how he got there but never leaves the family obligation, that of providing for his mother and younger brother while his father served time.

In off-beat casting, Art Lund as the father (he's a musical comedy singer) and Geraldine Fitzgerald (she's a dramatic actress) as the mother, are part of the facial montage that engages you in the characters, taking the action as it comes, hot and heavy and often.

The racing footage is absorbing because you get so involved with the racers, several of whom are serviced on off hours by Valerie Perrine, a 'Georgia Peach Pit' groupie who follows the races and makes herself available to the winner at each one.

From loner to superstar is the crooked path Jackson chooses, winding up in the winner's circle but learning to compromise every step of the way. The real Johnson has seen the film and likes it. It will easily appeal to racing fans but I think its merits as a character study ably accomplished by an experienced director and a strong and engaging actor broaden that appeal to another audience.

Thurman Is 'Man of Year'

Ray Thurman was honored as Man of the Year for 1972-1973 at the recent Fireworks-Awards Dinner of Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus.

Thurman, a chief petty officer in the Navy as an instructor at the Naval Schools Command at Treasure Island, has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for two years and currently is chancellor of Marian Council.

Membership Director Tom Carr also presented a plaque to Jim Haug in "Recognition of Achievement in Recruitment."

Creamery Leases Warehouse

Sonoma Mission Creamery has leased 50,000 square feet of warehouse space in the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes South San Francisco Office-Industrial Park. The company now owns a 36,000 square foot building at 465 Cabot Blvd., which will continue to be used as manufacturing facilities for some of the more than 2,500 institutional food products manufactured and distributed by Sonoma, according to Russell O. Reese, president.

The company's new warehouse, at 533 Cabot Blvd., is part of an inventory building built by Cabot, Cabot and Forbes. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. maintains a records storage and microfilming operation in the other part of the building.

Sonoma Mission Creamery moved into the CC&F park five years ago. Since then they leased a 14,000 sq. ft. warehouse at 237 Harbor Way in South San Francisco. They have now outgrown that building. The company expects to be operating in its new warehouse by mid September. Sonoma employs 70 people.

Bill Lewerenz of the Leverenz Co., San Francisco, was the broker in the lease transaction.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement for Bids)

1 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, tools, materials, equipment, transportation and services required for Mezzanine and Exterior Lighting at Existing Maintenance Storage Building at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds, 25th Avenue at S. Delaware Street, San Mateo, California, for the County of San Mateo.

2 Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and contract documents prepared therefor now on file with the Purchasing Agent, County of San Mateo, Office Building Annex, Redwood City, California.

3 Drawings, Specifications and contract documents may be examined and copies obtained at the Office of the Director of Building Construction and General Services, 590 Hamilton Street, County Office Building, Redwood City, California, upon deposit of $10.00 for said documents, which deposits will be forfeited if the Contractor fails to return the drawings and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days of the bid opening date.

4 A complete set of drawings, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the Office of the San Mateo County Director of Building Construction, County Government Center, County Office Building, Redwood City, California.

5 Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of plans, specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.

6 Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the specifications and in accordance with regulations, as set forth in the General Conditions, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.

7 Bids shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, on or before the 11th day of SEPTEMBER, 1973, at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 2:00 p.m. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records.

8 The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, alternate bids, or unit prices and or waive any irregularities in any bid received.

9 No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

10 WAGE RATES: The Board of Supervisors has determined and has had published the rates of prevailing wages in the County of San Mateo, in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform the contract. Said prevailing rates are set forth on listing copies of which are set forth in the specifications for the work, in the offices of the County Clerk, Purchasing Agent and Director of Building Construction. Crafts and rates per hour for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform this contract are listed under Wage Rates, Instructions to Bidders.

11 The prevailing rates so determined are based on a 8-hour day, 40-hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.

12 It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor, and upon any subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specific rates to all laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by them in the execution of this Contract.

13 A Bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the Bid.

KC Honors To Matean

At the recent Fireworks Awards Dinner held by Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, Ray Thurman was honored as the "Man of the Year," for 1972-73.

In presenting the award Past Grand Knight Jim Haug said, "This plaque is presented to you because of your exemplary conduct as a Knight of Columbus in the true spirit of fraternalism and for your devotion of time and effort in all phases of the council's activities."

Thurman, who is a Chief Petty Officer on active duty with the United States Navy as an instructor at the Naval Schools Command, Treasure Island, has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for two years and is currently the chancellor of Marian Council.

In addition, membership director Tom Curr presented a plaque to Jim Haug in "recognition of Achievement in Recruitment."

Saga Tells Earning Cut

Saga Administrative Corp. of Menlo Park reported lower earnings on higher sales for the fourth quarter and fiscal year ended June 30.

Saga said net income for the year was $4.37 million, or $1.01 a share, on sales of $217.5 million, compared to a year - earlier profit of $4.72 million, or $1.12 a share, on sales of $179.56 million.

For the fourth quarter, Saga reported a net income of $850,000, or 20 cents a share, on sales of $64.52 million, down from a year - earlier profit of $938,000, or 22 cents a share, on sales of $44.89 million.

M.P. Firm Tells Sale

U.S. Natural Resources Inc. of Menlo Park announced it has completed the sale of its 53 per cent interest in Yosemite Park and Curry Co. to MCA Recreation Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of MCA Inc., Los Angeles, for $7.2 million cash.

The tentative sale was announced July 23.

Under the agreement, MCA acquired the 552,346 shares which USNR had owned in Yosemite Park and Curry Co. and has agreed to make a tender offer for the remaining 498,000 shares held by other owners.

The price paid to USNR was $13 a share and the tender offer will be for at least this amount.

THE "ANY WOMAN CAN" morning workshops Saturday, August 18, will include advice on exercising as well as dieting and nutrition. Open to the public at Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center, the 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. event will be in Daly City's old city hall, 75 Wellington Avenue. Exercising, left to right, are Mrs. Luz Vega of San Francisco, Mrs. Rosemarie Hernandez of South San Francisco and Mrs. Chellee Gonzalez of Redwood City, here practicing for the symposium.

SSF, DC Fight Fire

South San Francisco and Daly City firemen threw all their resources into combating a blaze that broke out in the fields between Dundee Drive, in the Winston Manor section, and Junipero Serra Freeway Monday.

Between five and 10 acres of thick brush, trees and extremely high brush went up in smoke. Firemen, mindful of a disastrous open space fire in the same area last year, tried their best to confine the fire to a smaller area than last year's burn — and succeeded.

Last year's fire, according to South San Francisco police, led to damaging mudflows in the Winston Manor area during the winter rains.

Coffee Anyone?

South San Francisco firemen had to fight a fire during their coffee break yesterday afternoon — but they did not miss their coffee.

They were called to fight a hopper fire at the Folger Coffee plant on 329 Littlefield Road, along the bay and — firemen report — inhaled enough fumes from smoldering coffee to last them for a week of coffee breaks.

Obituaries

CONNIE COMACHO

Funeral services were held Aug. 9 for Connie Camacho, 50, secretary of Sunshine Gardens School of South San Francisco for six years.

She died at South San Francisco Kaiser Hospital Aug. 6, after suffering from cancer for many months. She and her family resided at 281 Gardenside Ave., South San Francisco.

Mrs. Comacho is survived by her husband, Juventino; three daughters, Diana Schappert, Belinda Durham and Corrine Comacho, and two grandchildren. She had lived in San Mateo County for 20 years. Mrs. Comacho lived in California almost all of her life. She was born in Mexico during a visit there by her parents.

Services were held at Garden Chapel in South San Francisco. A Requiem Mass was celebrated at Mater Dolorosa Catholic Church, followed by burial at Holy Cross Cemetery.

JESD Budget Adopted

Teacher Pay Increases in Doubt

The Jefferson Elementary School District last night adopted an "open end" budget based on an estimated income of $10,189,635 and expenditures of some $9,979,000.

These figures leave only $209,000 available for teacher pay hikes in the district, but Chairman Dorothy Adams said she was hopeful the state would be able to provide some additional funds under "trailer legislation."

This legislation stipulates that a district, such as the JESD, which has had to enter into deficit spending in the past year may get state aid.

The JESD has, for the past two years, been required to spend its reserves to maintain its budget.

Mrs. Adams said the district had hopes of getting "anywhere between $130,000 and $280,000 in these monies."

If the district gets such a windfall it will undoubtedly be use to give the teachers a pay raise — something they have not had for two years.

Teachers in the JESD have received only a 2 per cent pay increase in the last three years while the district's classified employes were given a 5.5 per cent across-the-board raise last year.

Teachers are demanding some 14 per cent in wage and fringe benefits.
